Colonel Bowman and Mr. Coleman Would Punish Those Who Harbor Criminals.

The Bureau of Fisheries at Washington have written Hon. E. C. Jordan, of Fredericksburg, a letter answering some questions of the latter, and practically endorsing the Jordan bill to break the Baylor survey.

The letter, which deals with the subject in a most interesting manner, is as follows:

Department of Commerce and Labor, Washington, Feb. 1, 1904.

AT THE THEATRES.

The "Tell Me, Pretty Maiden," girls, bobbing at the audience with their big black hats, and all the rest of the crowd, with Bob Graham in a spasmodic laugh, and dainty Isadora Rush, with her laughing smile, though it shows just the corners of her feet around her eyes, were at the Academy yesterday at two performances.

The production was well mounted, but good voices were sadly lacking. Mr. Graham made a brave effort at comedy in the role of Cyrus W. Graham, and sometimes he hit the mark. His principal piece of business was a trick laugh. Sometimes it reminded one of George Wilson, the minstrel, though the laugh had variations that went up and down the scale all the way from a trill to a gurgle, and like that made by a man who is not a comedian.

Isadora Rush made quite a vivacious Lady Holroyd, but her powers to charm seem to be rather on the wane. As usual, she was faultless in her gown. Mr. Philip H. Ryley, as Anthony Tweakum, did the best work of the production.

Large audiences witnessed both performances and gave every evidence of being thoroughly pleased.

Clean Comedy To-night.

STR UP THE PEOPLE

Virginians Urged to Try to Secure Passage of Hepburn-Dolliver Bill.

WRITE TO CONGRESSMAN

Anti-Saloon League Purposes to Sweep the State During the Summer and Autumn.

The temperance element in the State has been directly and officially called upon to exert its best endeavors in the way of influencing the Virginia representatives and senators in Congress to secure the passage of the Hepburn-Dolliver bill, now pending.

The bill contemplates an interstate liquor law that will give to each State the control of the liquor traffic untrammelled by illegal vendors from the outside, under guise of interstate commerce.

The next hearings on the proposed measure will be given on March 23, 24 and 25. The brewers have urged delay, and it is charged, have done so hoping that the bill may be crowded out by being reported late in the session. A call to arms has been issued by the anti-saloon forces, and every effort is being made to aid up the people of Virginia on the subject.

There has been sent out from the headquarters of the American Anti-Saloon League, in Washington, a letter advising immediate action by the temperance people in the State. The Anti-Saloon League of Virginia, in response to this request, and also of its own motion, has called "upon our friends in Virginia to send personal letters at once to their representatives in Congress, asking them to support the bill."

Other appeal has been made, and the Rev. James Cannon, Jr., editor of the Christian Advocate, comes out this week with the statement that "friends of law and order must use this delay to bring pressure to bear upon senators and representatives in Congress." He advises that personal letters be written at once.

Sweep the State.
The Anti-Saloon League of Virginia purposes to sweep the State during the spring, summer and autumn, and start the temperance crusade in every county. The league has already started in several directions. A new plan has been formed and will be put into operation. Heretofore the league has visited many of the counties. It will now go at it with a full tooth and hold every county.

MR. GOULD IS DISGUSTED

Has Ordered All Improvements for Richmond and Hereabouts Stopped.

HOLDING BACK THOUSANDS

Will Spend No More Money Here on Account of Council's Attitude.

Mr. Frank Jay Gould is annoyed and thoroughly discouraged on account of the attitude of the City Council towards his company.

It was authoritatively stated last night that Mr. Gould had ordered every improvement stopped, which was begun, and east to the winds every plan which had been contemplated. This is in no sense effort at retaliation, or to speak commonly, "a bluff." But Mr. Gould became interested in the development of Richmond, and almost immediately after the acquisition of the street railway system, advanced nearly a million dollars for improvements. Work was begun in many directions and new roads were laid out. He was prepared to spend an unlimited amount and more and more to become identified with the city. He expected and believed he had a reason to expect, according to officers of the company, the good will and an encouraging attitude on the part of the city's representatives. He believes he has been met in exactly the opposite humor, and treated as one who is "squeezed" for every dollar possible.

THOSE OLD SULTS.
Every old suit, his representatives declare, must be settled in the city's own terms, and over his head is hung the threat that if he does not comply with that way the company will be forced to have its wires put underground or establish the double trolley system. Neither preventive of electrolysis is up-to-date language, the policy which Mr. Gould formulates, he believes, will be a success. It is a policy which Mr. Gould formulates, he believes, will be a success. It is a policy which Mr. Gould formulates, he believes, will be a success.
